

Dr Asif Hirani

I qualified from Imperial College School of Medicine in 2003 and quickly realised my passion for General Practice and my desire to provide long term family-based care.

Since 2007, I have been working in a large patient-centred, dynamic GP Surgery in Brent, and over the years, I have developed my specialist interests: minor surgery & joint injections, diabetes management and insulin initiation, and more recently teaching trainee doctors. I have also attained a diploma in family planning.

Having moved to beautiful Bucks recently with my wife and two boys, I am enjoying getting to know the local area, exploring the countryside's cycling paths & golf courses!

I am extremely excited to be joining the dedicated team at the Allan Practice and look forward to having the opportunity to serve and support our local community.
